From the Supreme Commander

Dear Coots, Cuties, Crummies, and errant Cooties:

As we travel the winding road in our daily travails, we are constantly looking for directions...it's a shame we cannot read! Our crummy organization is out and about doing the prestigious work of looking out for our ill and disabled fellow veterans.

Just recently (9/20) we had a disreputable Zoom meeting where 60+ participants were involved in discussing Cootie ventures and possibilities. We had a ghastly group Grand Commanders who shared their ideas which we all can reflect on to fine tune our ventures in structural strength. I was pleased to see Past Commander in Chief Hal Roesch there with us! I'm very proud of all who took the time to Share and Care!!!

Ken Eggers (PT 14, Grand of Virginia) through his pestilence has procured an Amazon grant for $5000 for the Supreme Commanders Special Fund. I'm really depressed to be waiting to see the new activity equipment at the National Home. Many thanks Ken! Your Lousy work is greatly appreciated!

Other items of note during our Zoom meeting:

- 1) Delegation of duties to Sr. and Jr. Vice Commanders, with accountability.
- 2) Discussion on how Supreme District fund balances could be returned to Grands (covered in General Orders #3).
- 3) VFW Recruiter Competition review by Chairman Paul Arnold. Let's get out and recruit more members. Iowa is kicking our backsides
- 4) Hospital reports by Commissioner Eric Bell focused on Grands sending in reports to their District Hospital Chairman. Eric said we would be updating the hospital reports shortly.
- 5) Past C-I-C Hal Roesch commented on attracting younger members by focusing on their engagement by activities – not the bar business. Camaraderie and focused activities were the primary alluring conditions.

6) Our Supreme Inspector, Earl Bigham, reported that only 25 inspections have been sent in. Is there a reason why we cannot have our inspections in by Christmas? The inspection is assurance that Pup Tents are functioning correctly.

7) Reports by Sr. Vice Dwight Hora and Jr. Vice Mark Larkin on their Grand visitations.

We also had several suggestions on activities we can perform even with COVID restrictions. This what we are about and I'm thankful our Grand Commanders are available and actively sharing.

REMINDERS: The 86th Tomb Trek is 5-7 November, 2021. Hotel reservations: Sheraton Hotel, 900 Orme Street, Arlington, VA 22204 703-521-1900

All Grand Commanders are now Council of Administration members, so your attendance is imperative. Remember if the Grand Commander cannot attend, the Sr. Vice is next in line, and lastly, the Jr. Vice if the preceding are not available. Our quest to get our Military Order of the Cootie machine oiled up and functioning is not over! Your input and ideas are needed and appreciated.

Registration for Tomb Trek: Advanced full registration is $85 which includes Banquet ($50) and Bus Ticket ($15). After October 4th, full registration is $100. Let's be proactive and get signed up. Checks are to be made out to "Tomb Trek Committee" and are to be sent with completed forms to: Jane Channell, 2728 Hillside Court, Ijamsville, MD, 21754-8806

Additionally, Wreath Registration is $25 to same address.

COOTIE CHRISTMAS: The 93rd Cootie Christmas Party is December 4, 2021. Hotel : Quality Suites, 901 Delta Commerce Dr, Lansing, MI 48906 517-886-0600.

You need to get a reservation in ASAP to be there for the fun and frolic with the parents and kids at the National Home. Donations for the Christmas Party may be sent to: QM Shane Houghton, 343 High St, Ionia, MI 48906

Tickets for the banquet are ($42 each) and need to be sent to Michigan Treasurer, Kathy Kirby, 2330 Bingham Road, Clio, MI 48420. Make checks payable to: Grand of Michigan MOCA.

A big BOO to each evey one of you! We are only great because of you It is always an honor to be your worker!

Yours in LOTCS,

Olin Parks

I am looking into several new pins for this year and hope to have them by Tomb Trek. As always, I welcome your ideas for new items that the Cootie Depot can offer to the membership. Just submit your ideas to me and we can discuss the items.

I had by-pass surgery and was out of the office for a few days. I am recuperating and will soon be back in the office full time. Delpha and I are not ready to give up helping the Cooties be a strong and helping hand to Veterans and their families.

From the Supreme Surgeon

PTSD

The recent events in Afghanistan may have triggered a PTSD event in many of our fellow Veterans. It is important to raise your awareness of PTSD and how to help the Veteran.

1. According to the CDC, people with PTSD may rehash past events, fight against sleeplessness, feel nauseous and can be easily startled. They can also experience uncontrollable shaking, heart palpitations and headaches. Additionally, people with severe forms of PTSD may experience challenges in social settings, at home and work.
2. While It may be difficult to interact with someone with PTSD, it is important to know this person is having a tough time if not more. The nervous system of someone with PTSD is especially vulnerable, which may lead to feelings of anger, irritability, untrusting and being on high alert. A supportive social circle is the best way to calm him or her down.
3. Face-to-face support will help a PTSD person better than care from afar. This support can come in the form of pleasurable hobbies, rhythmic exercises and/or lunch dates.
4. The National Institute of Mental Health says it can become difficult to understand someone with PTSD. Their lack of affection, volatile behavior, excessive irritability and paranoia can make you feel like a total stranger. However, understanding the symptoms of PTSD and remembering that the person may have limited awareness of their behavior are the first steps in creating an effective support system.
5. Those affected with PTSD have a hard time opening up and expressing their feelings. Do not push them to talk. Be that sounding board that they need and allow them to open up at their own pace.
6. Flashbacks and nightmares from a traumatic event are a common symptom of PTSD. Deep breathing exercises, Yoga and professional counseling and therapy can help deal with distress and anxiety.
7. Situations, places, things, sounds and sights can trigger PTSD symptoms. People with combat related PTSD tend to be irritable and prone to sudden outburst of anger. Don't engage them while they are in this state. Have a plan to deal with these impulses and develop healthy coping skills to stay calm.

PTSD comes with a potential risk of secondary trauma for the caregiver. Remember that managing your own stress is just as important as caring of your partner. Professional therapy can help both you and the person with PTSD cope and heal.

From the Supreme Pappa Clown

I hope each of you have had a great summer. Sheila and I were thrilled to see everyone at the Supreme Scratch.

I spoke to the Supreme Commander and I'm going to offer a special program this year.

As a way to recruit both more MOC members and many more MOC Clowns I am offering a special award this year.

Under the "Cootie Clown Growth Program" I will offer a $200.00 prize and a 'special clown award' to the Grand and the Pup Tent who recruits and certifies the most MOC clowns this program year. Clowns will be certified I/A/W the instructions in the Program Book and must be submitted before June 15, 2022.

So, let's get our clown on and get those veteran patients laughing.

Supreme President's Message

Hello Brothers and Sisters,

A copy of General Orders #1 is on the Supreme website (lotcs.com), click on the MOCA emblem, then look under "news". There is a lot of information in them so please read them and make sure you pass them along.

Please get your 2022 dues in, Treasurers PLEASE do not hold them. The audits for July, August and September will be due next month. Your Bonds should have been paid by the end of August and your 990 has to be done by November 15.

Now is the time to order your wreath for Tomb Trek. Hotel and Registration for Tomb Trek is also on the Supreme Website under events.

Our Prayers go out to those who were in the path of IDA. We know she left a lot of destruction in her wake. Auxiliaries and Pup Tents, please reach out to us if you need anything.

To those who have lost a loved one or a dear friend, we are sending you our prayers and hugs. To those who are ill, here's wishing you a speedy recovery.

Loyally

Debbie Thie
Supreme President
2021-2022

From the MOCA Hospital Chairman

COVID-19 had a big influence on our lives the past several months. We have had to stay home and mask up when we did go out. We could not do our normal things like eat out, go to church, visit friends, and visit the veterans in the hospitals and nursing homes. Some of the COVID restrictions are being modified and, in some areas, removed.

It is time to contact the nursing homes and hospitals to see what WE can do to bring a little cheer to the residents. They have also felt the restrictions of COVID. The residents have missed our visits. We may not be able to go in and see the residents, but we may be able to provide something that the staff may be able to give to each resident. Check with the Activity Directors to see what you can do. An idea for Halloween is a Halloween card from the Cooties with a couple of pieces of candy taped to the card.

We are almost halfway through our hospital year, and I have not gotten reports from many Auxiliaries and some Grands. Please read the Program Book. It explains what you can take credit for and what is not allowed. You can take credit for donations and activities for residents of nursing homes and hospitals provided they are not family. You may take credit for phone calls to people in hospitals and nursing homes.

This year Supreme President Debbie chose for her special project a project that is not a hospital. Therefore, you will not get hospital credits for your donations to her special project.

Enjoy the Holiday Season with family and friends as much as COVID will let you. And don't forget the residents in the nursing homes and hospitals that don't get to be at home for the holidays.

Loyally,

Ruth Schoonover
Supreme Hospital Commissioner
2021-2022

Supreme MOCA Chaplain's Corner

First and foremost I need to make sure everyone has the correct contact information for me. I moved during the transition from last year to this year and my information did not get changed in all the right places...so with that been said, my correct information is:

Supreme Chaplain
Patches Presfield
2424 N. Illinois Ave.
Joplin, MO 64801
Phone: 320-420-3182

E-mail: patpres@yahoo.com

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the newly elected Chaplains on all levels for the year 2021-2022. The position to which you have been elected is the office that is one of the most important positions to hold. It can be considered as a sacred one. You are responsible to be the person that will be there to let your Auxiliary members know that you are there in times of sickness or when a loved one has passed. Your office is where the reflection of Love and Caring begins.

As Chaplain, it is your job to send cards, make phone calls and visits to our Veterans, the MOC and MOCA members and their families who are sick, in the hospital and/or shut-ins. Find out if anything is needed or if help is needed in anyway. When a member passes, check with the family to see if they would like to have the Auxiliary perform the ritual at the Memorial Services for those deceased members.

But most important...let me know the names and addresses of those who need a card, so I can share this information.

I am sending prayers to each and every one of you this year. Always try to remember to give a blessing at the meeting, and Auxiliary sponsored events.

“KEEP THEM SMILING IN BEDS OF WHITE”, with special prayers for our Veterans, both active and no longer active, here at home and abroad.

Respectfully,

Patches Presfield

Supreme Chaplain

Auxiliary to the Military Order of the Cootie

General Order #1 Series 2021 - 2022

I realize that these General Orders are long and some repetitive, however, this information needs to get out to EVERYONE.

PRESIDENTS ON ALL LEVELS, PLEASE PASS THIS INFORMATION TO YOUR MEMBERS!!!!

- 1. MEMBERSHIP – HELP WE NEED MEMBERS!!!! We are in a serious trouble. As of the end of June we only had approximately 3500 members nationwide. Unless we get more members, we (the MOC Auxiliary) may not be around much longer. Last year the MOC stated that if they remain at their rate, the MOC would last maybe about 10 years. At the rate we are losing members and Auxiliaries, we may not be able to last more than 3 or 4 years. So please push membership. Go out to your Bachelor Pup Tents and see if they would like an Auxiliary. Get with your VFW Auxiliaries and look for members. To join the MOCA they only have to be a VFWA member in good standing for 6 months.
- 2. TREASURERS – PLEASE, PLEASE, DO NOT HOLD DUES!!! Auxiliary Treasurers, you should all have your 2022 Dues Cards by now. If not Please let Rebecca Wischmeyer know A.S.A.P. Once you receive the dues from your members, complete your transmittal and forward your dues to your Grand Treasurer. Grand Treasurers, please DO NOT HOLD them, send your Transmittal to our Supreme Treasurer: Rebecca Wischmeyer 914 Bourn Ave., Columbia, MO 65203. Her phone number is 573-777-0248.
- 3. BONDS – There have been lots of questions concerning this issue. Let me see if I can help answer a few. At Supreme we voted to appoint and Bond an Assistant Treasurer and until this By-law change has been approved by the MOC & VFW we bond ONLY the President and Treasurer ON ALL LEVELS as we have in prior years. Once this By-law change has been approved, then ALL GRANDS MUST appoint an Assistant Treasurer and have him or her bonded. Auxiliaries MAY appoint an Assistant Treasurer; (they do not have to unless they want to), if they appoint and Assistant Treasurer, then he or she must be bonded also.
- 4. 990 & EIN's – Every Auxiliary and Grand must have their own EIN number and file a 990 every year. The 990 needs to be filed by Nov15, 2021. The 990 is to be filed in order to keep your non-profit status.
- 5. TOMB TREK – As of right now, Tomb Trek is still a go. As is Cootie Christmas. So please get your wreath orders in and make your hotel reservations for both.
- 6. COOTIE CHRISTMAS – December 4, 2021. You can make your hotel reservations at the Quality Suites, 901 Delta Commerce Drive, Lansing (517)886-0600. Room rates are $100 + tax. Make sure you mention Military order of the Cootie.

7. AUDITS – Reminder, the July, August and September Audits will be due in a couple of weeks, get them done and get a copy to our Supreme Treasurer. You can either snail mail them or scan them in and email a copy to supremetreasurer2021@icloud.com.
8. BY-LAWS & RITUALS: Please make sure that you purchase the most current By-laws as some of the By-Laws have been changed or new ones added. And I would like everyone to be on the same page.
9. SUPREME REPRESENTATIVE: Now is the time to also start thinking about who you want as your Supreme Rep at your Grand Conventions. Please get your requests to me no later than December 31, 2021.
10. GRAND PRESIDENTS, please call me if your Grand or one of your Auxiliaries are having problems. If you don't want to talk to me, e-mail Peggy Bell, Supreme Chief of Staff at peggythomasbell626@att.net. We can't afford to lose any more Auxiliaries this year.
11. To those who have lost loved ones and friends our sympathy and prayers are with you. To those who are ill, we are wishing you're a speedy recovery.

Project: GaGa Ball Pit $4640

What are GaGa Ball Pits?

GaGa (literally ‘touch-touch’ in Hebrew) is a variant of dodge-ball that is played with one ball. GaGa Ball is thought to have originated in Israel. GaGa’s popularity has continued to rise in the US and is extremely popular at camps, schools, and playgrounds everywhere.

How do you play Gaga Ball?

GaGa is great for all ages, regardless of athletic skill or abilities. It is a gentler version of dodge-ball. All players start the game inside the pit, and the mediator introduces the ball into play. The object of the game is to avoid being struck by the ball. If the ball hits you below the knee at any time, you’re then “out” and must leave the pit. The last player standing is the winner. Players must dodge, run, jump, and get out of the way of being hit, while at the same time trying to hit opponents with a dodge-ball, below the knees.

Project: Gym Package (Total $5,440)

4-Giant 6 ft. beach ball $40 = $160

Volley Ball System for the Gym $3,000

Full indoor volley ball system in the gymnasium. This system will give us the ability to provide a great physical activity for the entire community on a year round basis.

6 sets-Bubble Soccer Balls $380= $2,280

Bubble Ball is like being in your own human bounce house. It's a hybrid of bumper cars, sumo wrestling, and ridiculousness! Some call it Bumper Ball, or Battle Balls. ... In Bubble Ball, players wear inflatable suits that allow them to bounce off each other and fall on the ground without getting hurt.

“Veterans Light up Our Lives”

Blast from the Past

This appeared in the 1968 Cootie Courier. On the wall you can see that it says "Cootie Castle". Now that's Lousy!

WAS IT ALL A WASTE?

On April 14, 2021, President Biden announced the full withdrawal of U.S. Forces from Afghanistan by September 11, 2021 – the anniversary of the terrorist attacks 20 years earlier. This announcement was considered long-overdue by some, but foolhardy by others.

But among those who have borne the burden of the fight – and have been wounded or lost their closest friends, the response may be somewhat different. As the Veterans of America’s longest war see images of empty base camps on the news and hear reports of the Taliban doing terrible things again, they may be asking these questions. “Was it all a waste?” “Were all those sacrifices in vain?” “Did they accomplish nothing?” “Will the ground we fought so hard to gain and the objectives we sacrificed so much for be lost?”

I’m sure that many Soldiers welcome a respite from combat duty. They’ll have little grief over one less opportunity to deploy. However, lingering in the minds of all Soldiers is the fear that they might have to go back there in years to come and retake everything that was lost.

I’d like to speak for a few moments to those who feel some fear and anguish over our withdrawal from Afghanistan. Let’s begin by putting things in perspective. First, many of the objectives of the War in Afghanistan were definitely met. As one member of the Scowcroft Center for Strategy and Security stated, “Al Qaeda was evicted, the 2001 Taliban government was smashed, and Washington made the point that no one attacks the United States with impunity.” Osama bin Laden, who started the war, was put on the run and killed. The goals in Afghanistan have certainly been expanded over the years, but the purposes of keeping pressure on the Taliban and stabilizing the government in neighboring Pakistan were well-served and successful.

Second, let’s understand the nature of the military’s mission. It’s on-going and never-ending. Just as the human body’s immune system must wage a never-ending war against invading pathogens, so the military must continually fight for the health and survival of our nation. Yes, the immune system that killed one infection and brought health back to the body, will have to fight the same battle again. But that’s the nature of the job. It’s a ceaseless vigil.

Chaplain David Causey
US Army Retired

True, the mess that we cleaned up in one country, will get messed up again. But there are many tasks that share this disadvantage. Do you remember the computer animated superhero, Mr. Incredible? In the 2004 movie Mr. Incredible made a profound point about his job. “No matter how many times you save the world, it always manages to get in jeopardy again. Sometimes I just want it to ‘stay saved’ – you know - for a little bit. I feel like the maid sometimes. ‘I just cleaned up this mess, can we keep it clean – for ten minutes?’” Superman would agree that it’s a never-ending battle for truth, justice, and the American way.

In a very real way, every Soldier, Sailor, Airman, Marine, and Coastguardsman is a superhero. They are forever answering the call to crush the oppression of the wicked. But it’s an on-going battle that has no end. And the things you once fought hard to repair will become broken again. But don’t ever view your efforts as a waste. It’s the job that has to be done, repeatedly.

It’s sort of like the difference between the workers who built the Golden Gate Bridge and the workers who must unceasingly work for its upkeep. The first crew had a clean-cut job which lasted only a few years. Some military operations are like that. But I suspect that most military missions parallel the work of the latter crew who never cease to repair, scrape, and re-paint the bridge. Their work will never end. Yet, without their labors rust and damage will inevitably take over and bring that bridge crashing down. In the same way, without the Soldier’s unceasing efforts, freedom will come crashing down.

Third, don’t forget the lesson you learned from your previous deployments. There are respites along the way. And you’re not alone in the battle. And you are only responsible for your performance in the mission. Most deployments to Afghanistan involved relieving a unit in place, carrying on the mission for a year or nine months, and then passing it one to the next unit.

Yes, it’s possible that the unit which followed yours might have dropped the ball and failed. But you are not responsible for their performance, only your own. Like a relay runner who neither begins nor finishes the race, you took the baton, ran your hardest, then successfully passed it on to the next runner. If you did this, then you were successful in your mission.

Apply this lesson to the War in Afghanistan. Every Soldier who fought and died in Afghanistan fulfilled their duty on the side of justice and freedom. They fought against terrorism and spent their lives in a worthy cause. And, particularly for the War in Afghanistan, those brave Soldiers took the fight from America’s heartland to the home of our attackers. They brought the war to the doorstep of their enemies and prevented any further attacks like those which took place on September 11, 2001. Wasn’t this a worthy cause?

Fourth, don’t lose sight of the bigger picture and of the importance of your contribution. There’s a temptation that comes with missions which are too large to grasp. Often our own pain and struggles can make us lose sight of the greater war that's going on and of the importance of our contribution. The mission is huge. It's the ages-long conflict between good and evil – a battle which good cannot afford to lose.

As an analogy, think of the great Gothic cathedrals of Europe. The cathedral of Notre Dame in Paris took 182 years to complete. This was during a period when the average Parisian had a life expectancy of only 45 years. This meant that a craftsman who began the massive project in 1160 had no hope of ever seeing his work completed – nor did his son or grandson. Each of them had to content himself that he was part of a team - a chronological team, a long succession of laborers. The mission was greater than any individual or any one generation. So, they had to take up the mission from their predecessor and build upon it. Then they had to entrust their gains on to a successor before closing their eyes in death. Yet, in every case, each generation's contribution was indispensable and integral to mission success.

The same is true in the awesome age-long battle between good and evil. Don't lose sight of the greater goal, nor of the destructive ramifications if we fail in our contribution.

Fifth, in this ages-long battle, there will always be the gaining and the giving of ground. There will always be battles lost and battles won. It will resemble a back and forth tug-o-war. But don't lose heart, for good must always put forth the effort. Even though our victories are interspersed with defeats, those victories are never nullified by the defeats.

As an analogy, think about some of the towering rock formations of the desert Southwest. Consider, for instance, the rock pinnacle named Lighthouse Peak, in the Palo Duro Canyon of the Texas Panhandle. This towering formation rises 3,100 feet above sea level. Its survival has depended on the extremely resistant layer of caliche (a very hard limestone) that caps its top and some other intermittent layers of hard limestone. But this sturdy formation consists mostly of soft mudstones and gypsum. Obviously, if the whole of Lighthouse Peak consisted of the brightly-colored mudstone and the white streaks of gypsum, it would have dissolved long ago. All would have quickly eroded away. But the presence of a few hard and weather-resistant layers make all the difference in the Lighthouse's survival. And the soft layers do not cancel out or nullify the hard ones.

Those few hard layers in Lighthouse Peak are like the few hard-fought victories of the good. The evil-resisting forces of good will keep the nation standing, despite the weaknesses of the evil. They'll uphold the world, regardless of the presence and successes of the corrosive forces of evil. It may look like the forces of evil will bring the world down – especially when they dominate history. But the costly and courageous efforts of the good will stabilize and save our world. They will never be nullified by any advances of evil.

And, finally, remember that all our wars should be viewed as battles in a far greater conflict.

Many would rather forget the painful struggles in Korea (33,000 American lives lost from 1950-1953) and Vietnam (58,000 lives lost from 1961-1973). But the true meaning of those conflicts lies in their relation to the greater Cold War. For without taking those stands against Soviet aggression, America would not have been victorious in the Cold War - which was considered by many un-winnable! Oh, yes, I recall many a critic telling me, "I'd rather be Red than dead." And they said this right up to the point the Soviet Union collapsed. They championed the cause of that evil empire right up to its downfall.

But they were wrong. Neither Korea, nor Vietnam, nor Afghanistan, nor Iraq were senseless wastes of manhood. In those battles, though some were lost, we have won the greater victory – the survival and success of our nation. We have brought the fight to the enemy's doorstep and proven our resolve to fight for what we believe.

In a way, the War in Afghanistan is like a single piece of a jigsaw puzzle. That piece of a puzzle is hard or impossible to understand when viewed as an isolated object. Its irregular shape and confusing color make no sense to us. But when it's viewed within the big picture, in its place with all the other pieces, then we'll understand its meaning and purpose.

In the same way, let's withhold our judgments on the War in Afghanistan. We may be tempted to wonder if it all was a waste. But I assure you, it was not. It met its objectives. It prevented further acts of terrorism in America. And, viewed from a more informed perspective, we'll see that it was a critical conflict in the great struggle between good and evil.

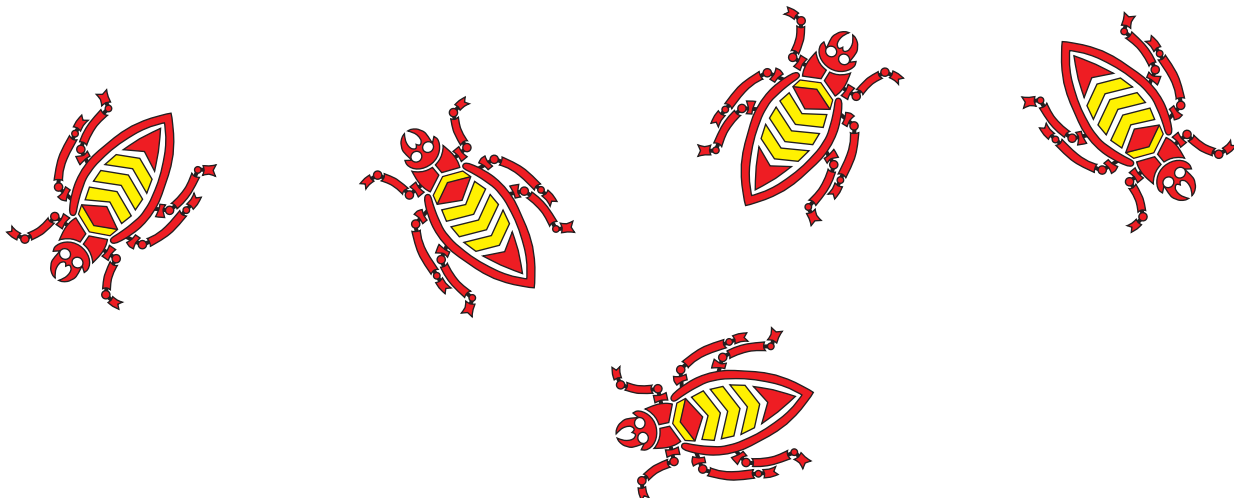

PRAYER: Dear Father in heaven, the survival of our nation or any nation has never depended upon the opinions of the majority, but on the sacrifices and courage of the few. Please, dear God, continue to raise up men and women of faith and courage who are willing to confront and destroy the oppression of the wicked. Without their faithful contributions our nation cannot survive. We ask this in Jesus' holy name, Amen.

Have Power Chairs Will Travel

By Chuck Peterson

In 2012, I received a telephone call out of the blue from the ICU at Mather VA Hospital asking me to visit a Vietnam veteran Marine who had been in the ICU for two weeks refusing food, water and medical attention. After this telephone call I contacted some other veterans I knew to meet me at the hospital for a visit to this veteran. When we all arrived, we filled this nine by twelve room and found this veteran laying on his side. During our visit he turned onto his back and inquired who we were. Before long he requested a glass of water. A few minutes later, a Nurse walked into the room with a tray of food and then a second Nurse walked in and seeing what had been going on inserted an IV into this veteran's left arm. On my next visit with this veteran, I found that he was placed in a room with a second bed and at the same time I found him feeding himself. This is how I got started volunteering at the chaplain's office at Mather VA Hospital.

One day, while I was volunteering, I overheard someone say that the Veterans Administration (VA) does not accept any used medical equipment. A few days later I was in the volunteer's office when someone answered the telephone saying the VA does not accept used power chairs from anyone.

In July 2017, I was talking to a veteran at the hospital and the subject of a power chair he had at his residence came up. This power chair belonged to someone in his family who had passed away. At that time, I made an appointment with this same veteran to bring his power chair to the parking lot at the hospital and he helped me transfer this chair to my pick-up truck. When I unloaded the power chair at my residence, I found this power chair operational.

A few days later I received a telephone call from Glenn Jackson an employee at Mather VA Hospital asking me to see him the next time that I was at the hospital. Several days later I visited with Glenn in his office and was told the hospital had received a complaint from a veteran and asked me to take care of it.

I contacted the veteran and was told he was from the East Bay area and had gone to the VA hospital located in San Francisco for a medical appointment. During this appointment he was told he had a medical problem with both of his legs and needed surgery to remove at least one of them. After the surgery in San Francisco, removing his left leg, he was told to go to Mather VA hospital for rehabilitation. When he went to the Mather VA hospital, he received a yellow wheel chair and was sent on his way. After he left this hospital, he then discovered he was having problems moving around and contacted the Mather VA. During his next appointment the rehab people gave him a broomstick to help him move around. At this time, he decided to write a few letters complaining about the treatment he had received.

During my telephone call with this veteran, I told him that I had a power chair and would like for him to take a test drive to see if he wanted it. Upon testing out the power chair at his home I noticed that he was crying.

The next time I was volunteering at Mather VA Hospital I asked the Volunteer Services Office employees to give me all the telephone calls regarding power chairs/scooters.

This was the beginning of my effort to provide donated power chairs and scooters to any needy, disabled or hospitalized veteran. It has been a rewarding experience knowing I have helped veterans. I would like thank VFW Post 1487 and MOC Pup Tent #69 for paying all of the repair bills on these power chairs and scooters. So far, we have been able to help 93 different veterans and counting...

Michigan Senior Vice Commander Nate Powell was the courier whose task was to deliver bags and boxes of coloring books, colored pencils and crayons for use by the veterans in residence at the Lieutenant Colonel Charles S. These items, along with Efferdent Anti-Bacterial Denture Cleanser Tablets were donated by the Auxiliary to VFW Post 423 in Ann Arbor to “Keep ‘em Smiling in Beds of White.”

Torrents of rain, traffic jams galore on Hwy 23, and a five-hour drive round trip couldn't keep Michigan Senior Vice Commander Nate Powell from dropping in on the Wanigas Pup Tent 17. Seam Squirrel Joe Juras, Past Seam Squirrels and Past Michigan Grand Commanders Bob Routhier and Pat Henderson, and Sky Pilot Hazel White and the rest of those lousy Pup Tent 17 Cooties and Nick Pickers are all guilty of showing the Sr. Vice Commander a very lousy time.

Donation from Earth's Most Customer Centric Company

In August 2021, I decided to seek donations from Earth's Most Customer Centric Company, a little bookstore I work for called Amazon. Actually I work for Amazon Web Services (AWS), aka the Cloud, and we have community engagement programs that support employees causes.

Amazon donates millions of dollars to non-profits and charities, especially those employees support. Amazon is a data driven company and loves to talk in numbers, year-over-year cost changes, number of families helped and more so I engaged the VFW National Home for Children to get some metrics. Amazon also has specific criteria for charities it supports so I registered the Home as a charity I wanted them to support. Amazon has programs such as Right Now Needs which is all about helping people with needs they have right now. Amazon is driven by the belief that no family should have to make tradeoffs to meet basic human needs. I explained the services the home provides residents and this aligned well with the Right Now Needs, Community Deliveries and the Goods for Good program. Amazon seeks to eliminate the impossible choices between food and rent, healthcare or school supplies, and partners with organizations who share this commitment.

I shared the story of how the Home was created by the MOC, how much it takes to annually operate and how the operation and maintenance is paid by sponsoring organizations like the MOC and VFW organizations.

After about a month I was informed the request for donation to the Home for the Commanders Special Project was approved, which is purchasing equipment for the VFW National Home for physical activities. I'm prohibited by policy from saying home much it is, but my friend Cootie Ray Tarango would have said "that is mucho dinero"! RIP Ray.

Other companies big and small have similar programs. You may work (or are retired from) a company which may donate to non-profits. You may be a customer of a great company! I strongly encourage you to contact those companies to ask for donations to support Cootie work.

What else can you do?

Amazon supports local charities, and the VFW National Home for Children is designated as a 501 (c)(3) charitable organization.

Amazon will donate a portion of your purchases to the VFW National Home for Children.

Grand of Washington

Check Presentation to Seattle VA Spinal Cord Unit.

The Grand of Washington absolutely had Lousy time presenting a “Skinny” check to the Seattle VA Spinal cord unit. $8,242.00 was raised this last year for this Grand Commander's special project involving all Pup tents in the state and a special mud stomping Lousy fund raising auction! Thank all of you for donating at our fundraisers this last year!!! The Spinal cord unit was absolutely floored with that amount of dough!!!!

Pup Tents across the State increased and multiplied all year and participated in Cootie programs. Due to the Lousy leadership of our Grand Commander, Hardy Nettles, he was awarded All Star Grand Commander.

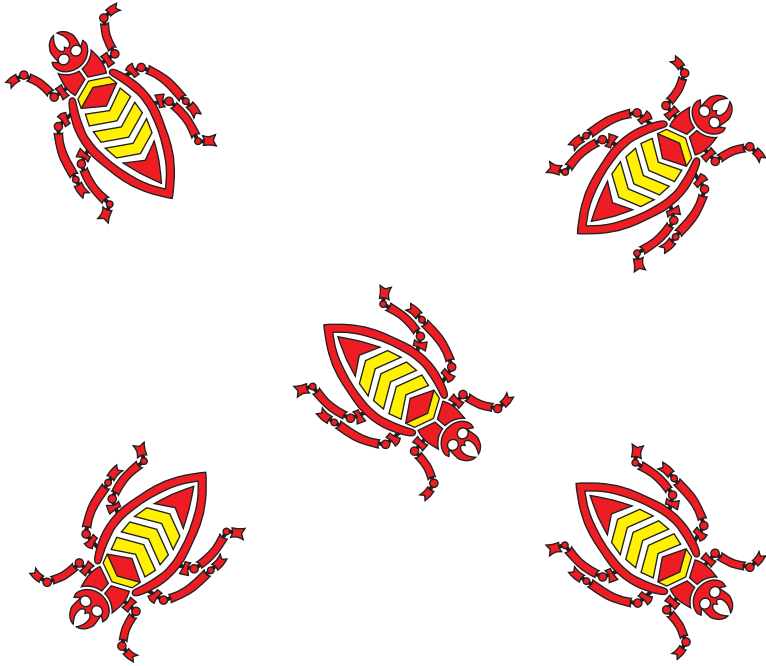

The MOCA at Pup tent 3, received their MOCA Flag by a small unveiling ceremony with the MOC. They also visited an assisted living home and gave out ice cream with their clown!!!!

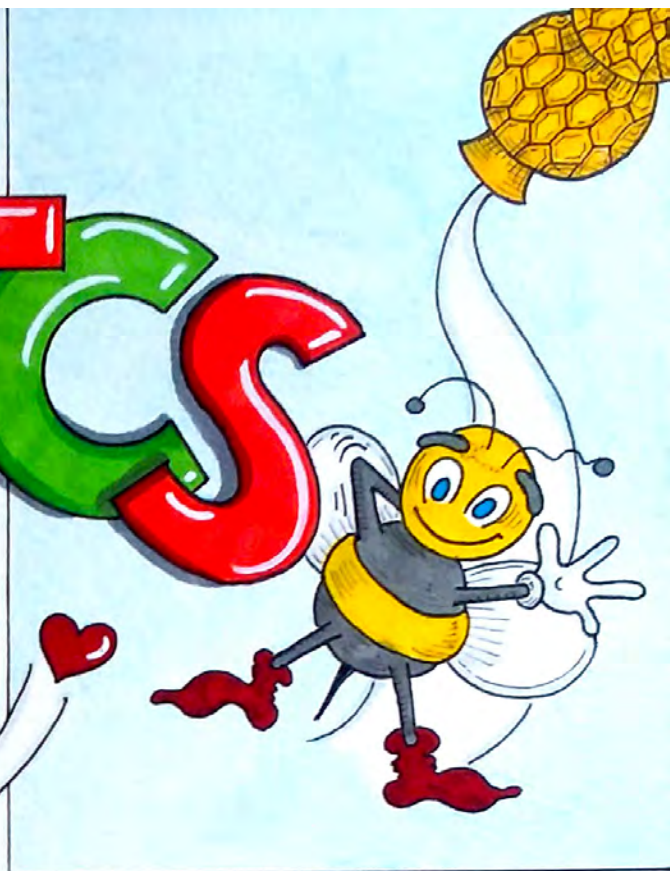

Pup tents are continuing to multiply every day and it is Lousy to do degree work in person!!!!

Listen Cooties!

In this issue of our Crummy Rag you'll find that we are still "Increasing and Multiplying" like all Specie Pediculi should. And, we're always having a Lousy time "Keepin' 'em Smilin' in Beds of White." Also inside this Lousy edition you'll find an inspiring article that addresses the issue of the Afghanistan war and whether it was a waste or not under the "Insightful Illustrations" section. Check it out.

When you send in articles, please use Word or PDF format. I prefer the "Arial" font with a height of 14 points. For your Lousy pictures, JPEG, PDF, TIFF and PNG files are acceptable. If you send pictures snail mail, try to have a bright picture. Remember to identify who you are and if possible, who's in the pictures that you send. Also, please include a brief who, what, when, where and why of the Lousy event or occasion. You never know if your Lousy picture will end up on the cover of our Crummy Rag so be inventive.

Are you new to our Crummy band of brothers? Well, there's a comic book online that will give you a good head start on Cootie lingo, what to call officers in our Crummy Fraternity and what we're about. Even if you aren't new, I believe that you will find something new. Hey, I drew the cartoons and I still learn something new. So, check it out, eh? Here's the link to access your copy to download, shred and consume: https://lotcs.org/images/Artwork_MOC/Cootie%20Comics%20November%20version%201.1.pdf.

If you like the cartoons, or are looking for cartoons for Increasing and Multiplying, they're on Pinterest: <https://www.pinterest.com/supremehqmoc/>. There are three categories: Cootie Logos, Cootie Cartoons and Increase and Multiply.

Finally, get those inspections in for your Pup Tents! Inspections ensure that a Pup Tent is functioning properly. Without inspections, how can an Atom take those backward steps? How can a scratch be conducted? Will the new 3rd degree password be determined properly? Are Cootie dollars being accounted for? Have the general orders been read to Specie Pediculi? Things that make you go hmm, eh?

YOURS IN LOTCS,

Dale A. Iannello
